

SOUTH CAROLINA CORRECTIONAL ASSOCIATION

A Dual-Member Chapter of

The American Correctional Association

Founded in 1870, the American Correctional Association (ACA) is the oldest and largest international correctional association in the world. ACA serves all disciplines within the corrections profession and is dedicated to excellence in every aspect of the field. From professional development and certification to standards and accreditation, from networking and consulting to research and publications, and from conferences and exhibits to technology and testing, ACA is your resource and the world-wide authority in corrections.

The Association strives to exert a positive influence on national correctional policy and to promote the professional development of individuals working in all aspects of the corrections field. Our primary purpose is to be of service to both the field and its members.

The Association provides its members with educational materials, publications, training, seminars, bi-annual conferences, accreditation services, and a variety of other networking opportunities - not to mention Corrections Today magazine and discount programs.

The South Carolina Correctional Association

The South Carolina Correctional Association (SCCA) is a multidisciplinary organization consisting of correctional professionals, individual agencies and organizations involved in all aspects of criminal justice activities. The SCCA was formed in February of 1979, after the Board of Governors of the American Correctional Association instituted a chapter pilot program. This program allowed for dual membership in State Chapters as well as the national organization. The SCCA provides professional development to its members through several workshops and seminars conducted throughout the year and also conducts an annual conference. At these sessions, relevant issues of concern or interest to criminal justice professionals and other interested persons are explored. Members receive quarterly newsletters that provide pertinent information about current events. Association members also participate in a variety of community, social and athletic events that foster open communication and a better understanding by citizens of the issues and challenges being faced by professionals in this field.

The Mission of the South Carolina Correctional Association is:

- To promote professionalism and personal improvement in its members;
- To provide information and forums for the exchange of ideas and opinions to those involved or interested in the fields of institutional or community-based corrections;
- To promote public awareness of the efforts and issues faced by those engaged in the business of adult and juvenile corrections;
- To stimulate the creation and encourage the involvement of our association and its members in meaningful juvenile and adult crime prevention endeavors; and
- To provide opportunities for individuals involved in the broad array of state, local, federal, educational and non-governmental entities concerned with the business of institutional or community corrections to collaborate and interact for their individual enrichment, and to benefit the citizens of South Carolina.
